GUEST PRESENTATIONS:

Lucas County Treasurer, Lindsey Webb – provided an overview of her office’s responsibilities, including property tax collection, fund management, and foreclosures. She noted Springfield Township’s low delinquency rate (~2%) compared to the county (~9%) and highlighted efforts to address delinquencies, including outreach, data analysis, and coordination with the Land Bank. She also discussed new programs for reporting and acquiring neglected properties. Additionally, she reported significant growth in the county’s investment portfolio (approximately $300M to $500M) and encouraged consideration of collection rates in budget planning.

Angels, Lisa Canales Smith – Angels, a volunteer, donation-funded organization, provides holiday food baskets to approximately 200 families and 75 disabled veterans annually. They partner with local police, fire, and community agencies to deliver assistance and build community connections. Additional programs include community recognition awards, winter supply initiatives, and toy drives. The organization has recently expanded into a new community.

Blessing in Disguise, John Sayre – founded the organization in 2008 to assist individuals in need, initially helping with basic expenses. It has since expanded to include the “HELP for Seniors” program, providing essential medical equipment to 500–700 seniors annually. The organization has grown from a small operation to a warehouse-based effort and continues to rely on donations and volunteers. Additional programs include “Be Kind,” which provides food, toys, and acts of generosity to underserved community members.

Dave’s Running Shop, Bob Masters – discussed a free cross-country program for K–6 students focused on promoting fitness and community involvement. The program serves up to 300 participants, partners with local schools, and aims to expand access while minimizing financial barriers.

Mountain Mentors, Noah Hagedorn – Toledo Mountain Mentors, a long-standing mentorship program, pairs youth with adult mentors to build life skills through mentorship and outdoor experiences. Serving approximately 25–30 students annually, the program is free and supported by donations and grants, with a focus on building confidence, leadership, and personal growth.

Toledo Vet Center, Jacob Healey – outlined services for veterans, service members, and families, including free, confidential mental health counseling, benefits assistance, and outreach across 14
